Continuation of Disposition of Claims: Claims pending in the application are 1-7,11-15,17,18,25,30,35,36,42-48,52,54,56-59,61,62,64,65,67,68,71,72 and 74.

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-7, 11-15, 17-18, 25, 30 and 35-36 are drawn to an analytical chip for the simultaneous determination of one or more different bacterial 16S-rRNA in a liquid sample.

Group II, claims 42-48, 52, 54, 56-59, 61-62, 64-65, 67-68, 71-72 and 74, are drawn to an analytical method for the simultaneous determination of one or more different bacterial 16S-rRNA in a liquid sample.

 Claim 15 is grouped with claim 1 in-group I. Reading through the claim text, there appears to be typographical error in claim 15, since claim 15 recites dependency from claim 1, which is drawn to a product, but refers to elements recited in claim 42, which is drawn to a process. If applicant elects group I or group II the confirmation of proper dependency of claim 15 is requested.**

Art Unit: 1634

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Group I, claim 1 is drawn to an analytical chip for the simultaneous determination of one or more different bacterial 16S-rRNA in a liquid sample whereas group II, claim 42, is drawn to a method analytical chip for the simultaneous determination of one or more different bacterial 16S-rRNA in a liquid sample. The common technical feature between group I and II invention is plurality of specific recognition elements immobilized on a surface for the recognition and detection of each different 16S-rRNA, different recognition elements being specific for different subsequences of the 16S-rRNA to be detected without amplification of the polynucleotide sequences contained in the sample are taught by Small et al (Applied and environmental microbiology, 2001, 67, 4708-4716, Figs. 1-3 and 5-6, Table 1, pg.4709, column 2, paragraphs 2-5, See also discussion section).

Thus, there is no special technical feature linking the recited groups, as would be necessary to fulfill the requirements for unity of invention.

Further Lack of Unity Requirement

 If Applicant decides to elect the invention of group I for further prosecution, applicant is required to choose a single combination of genus and species listed under claim 4 for further prosecution. If Applicant decides to elect the invention of group II for further prosecution, applicant is required to choose a single combination of genus and species listed under claim 45 for further prosecution. *****

Notice of Possible Rejoinder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
